Women in Data Science Scholarship Match Researchers

QuantHub

May 8, 2021-Women in Data Science Scholarship $1000 will be awarded to a deserving female student in a data science program Gender diversity in tech and data science is still lacking. As the chart to the below and other research shows women still represent a low percentage of workers in the data science field. Many factors have been cited as contributing to this, one of which is unconscious bias on the part of male hiring managers who have historically dominated the tech and data science sectors. Bias in general is a key driver of the lack of diversity in tech, including data scien ...
